THE brilliant lighting of State-st, increasing safety, defying the early darkness of Winter days, is an excellent beginning, typical of the energy of Chicago's business men and citizens generally.

The next step, even more important, will be to increase facilities for reaching State st.

Transportation is to a city what circulation of the blood is to the body.

Chicago's "I will!" and the civic energy of many other cities should be translated into an absolutely adequate transportation system.

A MEMORIAL to Woodrow Wilson at Geneva proclaims President Wilson "founder of the League of Nations."

One of Europe's millions that hate this country hung a sign on the Wilson memorial saying: "The American people have done nothing to deserve that the president should be designated as the founder of the League of Nations."

* * *

AMEN, and thank heaven for that. This country doesn't want to be the founder of the League of Nations.

It would like to be the founder of such a power on this continent as would inspire respect in those European nations. It would like to be associated in a great league of American nations north and south.

* * *

IT is not America's fault if the people of Europe continue to cut each others' throats, lie, cheat, declare war. Ten thousand high-powered, swift flying machines, plenty of submarines and a ready answer to any impertinence from Europe are what this country needs, not any "credit" for meddling in nations' business.

DISPATCHERS say Missouri is taking Senator James Reed of that state "most seriously" as a candidate for president on the Democratic ticket. Senator Reed may well be taken seriously. If he were president of the United States there would be a fighting man in the White House, and this country would be put in condition to protect itself in war and inspire respect in time of peace.

The United States had enough of the weak-kneed milk policy, the silly idea of wandering around the earth to see how kind we can be to others.

Presidents and senators are paid to look after this country.

NEW YORK'S university for young women, Barnard College, intends to get aside one million dollars to increase teachers' salaries, a wise decision.

Well paid, satisfied teachers, their services appreciated, are more important than new buildings or any sort of fine collegiate monument.

Young students eager to learn and teachers competent to teach in any sort of buildings will do the work of education.

LOS ANGELES HOPS OFF ON FLIGHT TO DETROIT

Forty-Four Persons Aboard as Ship Leaves Lakehurst Station

Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 14—With fair weather predicted along her route, the dirigible Los Angeles "hopped off" for Detroit at 11:05 a. m. today from the naval air station here.

Forty-four persons were aboard the airship, including Rear Admiral William Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics. The ship's destination is the Ford airport in Detroit, where a mooring mast large enough to hold the Los Angeles has been erected.

The flight today began the first extensive cross-county dirigible trip since the ill-fated Shenandoah, sister ship of the Los Angeles, crashed into the valley at Ava, Ohio, Sept. 3, 1925.

The Los Angeles will follow route No. 3—three—on the way to Detroit, Lieutenant Commander C. E. Rosendahl, commander, advised the Navy Department just before the dirigible left Lakehurst at 11:05 o'clock.

Light Frost Accompanies Arrival of Cold Wave; No Damage Reported

Accompanied by a light frost in this vicinity, the mercury in the official Marion thermometer last night slumped to the 40 degree mark, coming to a halt within one notch of the low temperature record of the season.

It was a 30-degree drop within 18 hours, the high mark of 70 being reached at noon yesterday.

Farmers of Marion County report only a light frost during the night, despite the sudden change and seemingly low record. No damage was reported.

Fair weather is forecast for today and Saturday with little change in temperature.

A year ago last night the mercury fell only to 47 degrees while the high temperature of the preceding day was 59.

DETECTIVES ON TRAIL TO PROBE DEATH OF BABE

Believe Isabel Zandarski Murdered and Not All Has Been Told

Cleveland, Oct. 14—Cleveland detectives were today put on the trail to discover how Isabel Zandarski, 3, of East Orwell, came to her death, when Inspector C. W. Cody detailed two men to go there and investigate the case.

"It looks to me as if that child was murdered and that persons already questioned have not told the truth," Cody declared. "If Isabel was killed accidentally, why should such efforts be made to hide the details."

The inspector's action was taken following a request for aid in solving the case, by Sheriff H. D. Hannum, of Ashtabula County.

SHERIFF CONVINCED BABE WAS MURDERED

Jefferson, Oct. 14—"I am convinced that Isazel Zandarski was murdered and her body secretly taken to the swamp where it was found," declared Sheriff H. D. Hannum, of Ashtabula County, today.

The sheriff based this conclusion on additional evidence revealed by physicians here who have performed a second autopsy disclosing that three of the child's ribs had been broken prior to death.

In an effort to clear up the mystery which has veiled the affair since the

MEXICAN ARCHBISHOP ARRESTED BY CALLES

Is Charged with Issuing Anti-Government Propaganda

Mexico City, Oct. 14—Carrying out its recent threats of arrest for those who opposed Mexico's religious regulations, the Calles administration today had under arrest Archbishop Pedro Vera, of Puebla, and several other prominent Catholics of that city. All are charged with conducting anti-government propaganda.

The prisoners were brought from Puebla yesterday and lodged in the famous military prison of Santiago Tlatelolco.

Ten Catholic priests from the state of Guerrero who were arrested on similar charges yesterday spent the night at the central police station. They were removed today and delivered into the custody of agents of the ministry of the interior, and their whereabouts today were unknown.

TWO ARE INDICTED FOR ATTACKING NEWS WRITER

Newport, Ky., Oct. 14—Howard Creighton and Ellsworth Miller, both of this city, were under indictment here today charged with assault and battery, accused of making an attack upon Richard Brite, reporter for a Cincinnati morning newspaper.

Brite, who recently swore warrants against the two men, declared he was beaten by them after he had written a story relative to a raid upon a gambling den which Miller was alleged to have been operating.

Miller is also under two indictments charging gambling.

SAN ANTONIO TO ENTERTAIN LEGION IN 1928

General John J. Pershing To Lead 1927 Convention to Paris

ELECTION TOMORROW

Six Candidates and "Dark Horse" in National Commander Race

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 14 — San Antonio, Texas, will entertain the American Legion in 1928.

The boys decided to meet two years hence in the Lone Star State after hearing bids from San Antonio, Miami, Detroit and Denver.

Dan Moody, governor-elect of Texas, extended San Antonio's invitation. Among other things, he promised "first class hotel rooms at $2.50, ham and eggs at 40 cents, coffee at a nickel and free automobile transportation."

"Black Jack" Pershing, better known as General John J. Pershing, commander of the A. E. F., will lead the legion to Paris next September for its ninth annual convention as permanent honorary national chairman.

Seven Candidates

Six candidates and a "dark horse" are in the field for the legion leadership, Colonel J. Munro Johnson, of South Carolina; Howard Savage, of Illinois; E. E. Spafford, of New York; Frank J. Good, of Massachusetts; Thomas Avory Lee, of Kansas; Jay Williams, of South Dakota, and Wilder S. Metcalfe, of Kansas. Metcalfe is not formally in the field.

Pershing, originally slated for the 1927 commandership, has let the convention leaders know he would under no circumstances accept because of his advanced age and arduousness of the duties to be entailed. He did, however, tell a committee he would be pleased to accept the honor of election of a lifetime honorary chairman. With the Pershing candidacy thus disposed of, campaigners for the other aspirants have redoubled their efforts during the past twenty-four hours. The air is full of politics, trading and compromise.

Household Budget to be One of Topics Discussed at This Year's Star Cooking School

Mrs. George O. Thurn Scheduled To Give Many Enlightening Hints on Operation of Practical Home Ecoomy Program at Star Auditorium

An important topic to be discussed by Mrs. George O. Thurn at the Marion Star's Cooking School next week is the household budget, which is as much a part of the housewife's problem as the daily menu. It is synonomous with the word cost and is the word that runs the government of nation, state and city.

Many enlightening hints on the household budget will be given one particular day of the school which is to be conducted Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week. The lectures will begin promptly at 2 o'clock each day following a half hour musical program presented through the courtesy of the Ackerman Piano Co. Children attending the cooking school with their mothers will be entertained in the nursery on the same floor as the auditorium.

Allowance Budget

"The housewife is beginning to realize that her old allowance from her husband is her budget," is the belief of Mrs. Thurn. "She is beginning to feel its influence in home and especially in the kitchen where foods have changed to higher pinnacle of distinction and even the most plebian of vegetables may cause a deficit in the home budget if there happens to be a shortage of, say potatoes.

"First was considered a fad, this home budget-making. But since the great economic changes have come over the world due to the war we find first the wealthiest women of the country employing the budget system for the purpose of conservation in the home," Mrs. Thurn says.

Budgeting is the woman's chance to prove her capability in managing, especially in directing that most sanctified of places, the home, Mrs. Thurn believes, and judging by the interest taken in her by the women in every city where she has appeared and the crowds before which she talked the wise woman certainly knows how to grasp her opportunities. She knows what is good not only for herself but for the betterment of her community.

Economic Values

Economic values in the modern trend of business and the office have so influenced the home that one now finds the housewife risen to a dignity long awaited. Women everywhere are taking domestic science courses as a requisite to this condition. They are beginning to realize that there is such a thing as a vocation in being a housewife. She has learned that it is the most important vocation in the world and that household management is the most important subject a woman can study.

Homes everywhere are run on easier wheels where women have learned the hundred and one ways to make a heavy job light. Homes are better where food values are figured out. It is not sufficient to know how a thing should be done, but why it should be done. Mrs. Thurn knows all these secrets and will pass them on in her talks next week. She will prove how pride is stimulated by the right management of money matters.

Driver of Truck Slain By Bandits; $160,000 is Taken

Helper Is Wounded and Motorcycle Policeman Escort Is Run Down and Hurt by Seven Armed Holdup Men at Elizabeth, N. J.

MACHINE GUN TURNED ON OFFICER

Pouches in Mail Truck Seized by Gang; Bank Officials Assert Bags Contained More Than $160,000; Disappear in Two Automobiles

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 14—Seven bandits armed with automatics and a machine gun, today shot and killed a United States mail truck driver, wounded his helper, ran down and injured a motorcycle policeman acting as escort and then escaped with a number of mail bags.

An official of the Elizabethport Banking Co. admitted that one of the pouches stolen contained approximately $160,000 in cash being transferred by registered mail from the Federal Reserve Bank in New York to the local bank.

Another payroll amounting to $1,700 in cash also was stolen, according to the People's National Bank, to which it was consigned.

The bandits overtook the truck in two large closed cars. As one of the automobiles ran down Jacob Christman, the motorcycle policeman, throwing him to the roadway, the other was driven opposite the truck and the bandits opened fire on the two men on the seat.

The driver, John Enz, was killed, and Patrick Quinn, who accompanied him, was shot twice in the arm.

The bandits in the other car, after turning their machine gun on Christman, wounding him three times, ripped open the door of the mail car, seized the pouches and drove rapidly away. The second car disappeared in another direction.

Police said that as far as they knew, today's hold-up was the first in the eastern part of the country in which a machine gun had been used. The gun, a Thompson .45 caliber, was found on the street when police arrived. Several bullets were still undred.

"GLITTER" TO BE MADE INTO MOTION PICTURE

Barthelmess To Star in Screen Version of Fascinating Novel

'Glitter' is going to be made into a movie starring Richard Barthelmess in the leading male role.

That announcement was received by The Star today from Katherine Brush, the author, who at the present time is in New York city holding conference with motion picture corporation executive regarding the filming of the story.

Various concerns have been angling for a movie contract with Mrs. Brush for several months and the author in the final disposal of filming rights is to receive $15,000. How soon the film version of the story will be placed with distribution exchanges is not yet known.

It is likely, however, that Marion theaters will be given special consideration for early showing dates.

Mrs. Brush's admiring legion is set agog with the news that 'Glitter' is to find its place on the silver screen. In all the movie houses in which the picture will be shown there will be no more interested audience than in Marion, where thousands read the installments of the novel as they appeared daily in the Star.

Literary efforts of Katherine Brush other than the fascinating novel, that have been placed at the disposal of Star readers are her interesting accounts of the Worlds Series baseball games of the last two years and her impressions of conditions at Ohio State University, during the investigation of alleged immorality and law violations there, nearly a year ago.

STEUBENVILLE MAYOR OUSTED PERMANENTLY

Decision of Common Pleas Court Announced by Judge J. S. Paisley

Steubenville, Oct. 14—Mayor John S. H. Patton was permanently removed from office this morning by the court of Common Pleas.

The decision was rendered by Judge J. S. Paisley, on an ouster suit charging the official with dereliction of duty.

Dr. E. J. C. Bander, physician and acting mayor during the period that the mayor has been suspended, automatically became the new head of the city administration.

Mayor Patton was suspended two months ago when a petition signed by 425 persons was filed, alleging that he had failed to enforce vice laws and had otherwise been remiss in the performance of his duties.

The petition was sponsored by the Ministerial Association who took an active part in the hearing of the ouster suit.

Police Chief Blaine D. Carter also was removed from office at the same time, but has not faced charges as he has been absent from the city since his removal.

The defense set up the claim that the petitioners were not "qualified voters," but this was overruled by Judge Paisley.

The case marks the first permanent removal of a mayor to be recorded since the Ohio ouster law became effective, taking such steps out of the hands of the governor.

FINE FOR CHILDREN

Give them a good start in life, with happy smiles and healthy little bodies. Children need a mild corrective occasionally to regulate stomach and bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a safe vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. They tone up and regulate the eliminative tract. Not a nasty cathartic or a habit-forming medicine, but a safe pleasant remedy for constipation, sour stomach, torpid liver, bad breath, and similar disorders. Dr. Edwards, a widely known family physician of Ohio, prescribed these tablets for many years in his own practice. Children from six years up are greatly helped by them and like to take them. Recognized by their olive color. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets overcome those irritable spells that many children are subject to keep their bodies in active healthy condition, skin clear and eyes bright with the light of perfect health. 15c, 30c and 60c sizes. —Adv.

Ford Runs 43.8 Miles On Gal. of Gas.

In a public test supervised by city and automobile club officials, a Ford Sedan equipped with Blancke Thermostatic Carbureter Control, ran 43.8 miles on one gallon of gasoline. This inexpensive control is entirely automatic and self-regulating. It makes Fords start instantly, even in zero weather, eliminates carbon formation, prevents dilution of crank case oil, avoids sputtering of motor and cuts repair bills 50%. Installed in two minutes. Cadillac now uses as standard equipment Thermostatic Carbureter Control under Blancke license. The inventors, Blancke Auto Devices Co., Dept. 4633-N., 157 E. Erie St., Chicago, want agents who can make from $250 to $2,000 per month and are willing to send a sample at their own risk. Write today.—Adv.

WELL KNOWN POET'S LETTER TEEMS WITH HUMAN INTEREST

ROBERT A. WILSON

There may be some authors who are better known than Robert A. Wilson, but it is safe to say that he counts his friends by the thousands. He was born in Crawford County sixty-eight years ago. Completing his education in Cleveland he came to Elyria where he now resides at 125 Fairlawn Ave.

Mr. Wilson is a poet and song writer of considerable note. During the late World War he wrote and published the song poem "Freedom" which won popular praise throughout the country. Later he published a collection of beautiful poems entitled "Practical Ideas—Moral and Instructive." It is claimed by authorities that Mr. Wilson has a better knowledge of the cause of crime than any other man in the state of Ohio.

"Before I took Tepee Herb Tonic I was suffering with indigestion and constipation. After eating my food soured and I felt bloated and stuffy. I was nervous, too, and couldn't sleep soundly. Tepee Tonic was recommended so highly that I tried it. It did me a world of good. I now have a good appetite and my food does not distress me. My bowels are very regular.

"I am so enthusiastic that I recommended it to my wife. She was troubled with congested liver. For years she had complained of dizzy spells, constipation and extreme nervousness. did her more good than all the rest of the medicine she ever took. Her complexion is better and she tells me she is free from dizzy spells, constipation and nervousness.

"And now after my personal experience and that of my wife I do not hesitate to recommend Tepee publicly. I am sure those who try it will have no cause for regret."

Tepee Herb Tonic may be had in Marion at Bradley's, Henney & Cooper's, Wm. M. Stump, Bartlett's and all drug stores; Richwood, H. D. Kyle.—Adv.

FOUR ERIE MEN HAVE PICTURES IN PUBLICATION

All Are Agents of Kent Division; Platform Frame Completed

Pictures of four Erie Railroad agents of the Kent Division, of which Marion is a part, appear in the current issue of the Erie Railroad Magazine.

The men are well-known in local railroad circles and especially by the many commuters who operate trains over the line between Marion and Dayton.

They are Benjamin M. Curl, agent at North Lewisburg; Virden N. Curl, agent at Kings Creek; Darius T. Runkle, agent at Mingo, and Elmer Morningstar Curl, North Lewisburg.

Frame Completed

Frame work for the new platform of the American Railway Express Co. along the third Erie track in front of the Union Station has been constructed.

The platform, when completed, will serve for unloading purpose and speed up traffic on the Erie and Big Four lines through Marion.

Work Progressing

During the last few days, work on the new steel water tank of the Hocking Valley near Bellefontaine-av has progressed rapidly. If favorable weather continues, workmen expect to soon complete the structure.

Seek Participants

Special efforts are being made to add to the list of those participating in the Erie Railroad's employes' solicitation campaign.

At present only six of the Kent Division employes are on the roll to procure routing orders, furnish traffic tips, cover shipments and the like. None of these persons are employed in the local yards.

Mention of several instances in which employes have aided in the campaign through direct solicitation is made in bulletins received here.

learned telegraphy under the instructions of Darius Runkle, Mingo agent, and Virden N. Curl, Kings Creek agent, indebted to his father, Benjamin, for his knowledge of telegraphy.

The first-named Curl has been in the employ of the Erie at North Lewisburg for 21 years. His son has been employed at Kings Creek, 10 miles south of North Lewisburg, for the last three years.

Agent Runkle at Mingo is the second oldest operator on the Kent Division, beginning work Oct. 1, 1874, for the Erie at Mingo. Mingo, incidentally, lies between North Lewisburg and Kings Creek on the Kent Division.

The Countess of Kinnoull has just fallen heir to the estate and title of Sir Frederick Wills, British tobacco king. The estate is valued at $10,000,000 but the title has no intrinsic value to her. A Double Treatment for Colds

IT is an obstinate cold indeed that can resist the direct, double action of Vicks VapoRub. When it is rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime, Vicks acts in two ways at once:

(1) Direct to the inflamed air passages with its medicated vapors, released by the body heat; and

(2) Direct through the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the tightness, soreness and pain.

Head or chest colds may easily sap your vitality and undermine your health. Don't neglect them.

SICK CHILDREN LOVE "CASCARETS" FOR THE BOWELS

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most of the ills of childhood are caused by a sour, disordered stomach, sluggish liver and constipated bowel. They catch cold easily, become cross, listless, irritable, feverish, restless, tongue coated, don't eat or sleep well and need a gentle cleansing of the bowels—but don't try to force a nauseating dose of oil into the little one's already sick stomach—it is cruel, needless and old-fashioned.

Any child will gladly take Cascarets Candy Cathartic which act gently—never gripe or produce the slightest uneasiness—though they cleanse the little one's system, sweeten the stomach and put the liver and bowels in a pure, healthy condition.

Full directions for children and grown-ups in each package.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this gentle, thorough laxative which costs only 10 cents a box at any drug store.

MARS RENEWS ROMANCE WITH MOTHER EARTH

Tryst Will Be Kept Tonight; Then He'll Slink Away

Cleveland, Oct. 14—Father Mars, bashful old bachelor of the skies who pays Mother Earth a visit every two or three years, will keep a tryst with her tonight and then slink away for 680 days.

Preparations were made at the Case observatory last night to let the public get a keyhole "peep" at the nocturnal affair.

Father Mars' visit this year will be hasty. For several months he has been steadily creeping this way. Tonight he will be hundreds of thousands of miles closer than usual—so close, in fact, that his 15,000-mile waistline will look as big around as a dime.

He will hesitate just for a brief moment and then swing back toward other heavenly habitats.

Jupiter, a more steady suitor of Mother Earth, will be "just around the corner" when the affair comes off. Observers at Case expect to look at him once or twice. Four of his nine moles will be visible.

STAR OF OPERA SEEKS "MR. RIGHT MAN"

Mme. Rosa Ponselle

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—Rosa Ponselle, delight of opera lovers, has fame, fortune and magnificent health. All she needs now—or so she confesses—is love.

She wants a husband. And, moreover, she has very definite notions of what sort of man her husband must be. She calls him, "Mr. Right Man," and speaks freely of his qualifications.

"What must he be like?" the singer was asked.

"He must be an American and a business man," she said. "There is something about the American business man that is very fetching. And he must be romantic and an ardent lover—of music and beauty."

"Have you ever met a romantic American business man?"

Miss Ponselle smiled wistfully. "Perhaps if I had I'd have married him," she said. "Anyway, I've read about him in books."

"How would he look?"

"He must be a blond. I am dark and I love striking contrast. He must be attractive to me in appearances, tall, to, and of a military bearing, I think. Naturally, I'd like him to be husky."

"Haven't you seen such a lad yet?"

The singer nodded.

"But," she said quickly, "he has been either too old or too young or too poor—"

"Would you expect your husband to support you?"

"Certainly," she cried. "I want an American husband, I said. I want a man who would assume all family responsibilities. I couldn't respect a man who would expect me to go fifty-fifty on the household expenses, even though my income runs into six figures annually.

"But I wouldn't want him to manage my affairs either, no matter how good a business man he might be. I have a manager for that. This Mr. Right Man must keep his hands off my career and not object to it. My sister's unhappiness arose over her husband's attitude toward her career."

Of course Miss Ponselle wants children. She wants all that goes to make for a happy family. But her career must not be disturbed.

"Divorce?" she said. "I want no divorce to mar my life. That's why I'm being so particular about a husband. I want permanency in love. The love of an opera star is a romantic one. Perhaps that is why we often think ourselves in love. But I'm sure I'll know the real love when it comes along. I'm quite sure."

UNITES POLITICAL FOES

Lille, France, Oct. 14—Without fear of political complications, the director of the opera of Lille has arranged for the production on the same evening of M. Clemenceau's opera, "The Veil of Happiness," with music by Charles Pons, and M. Herriot's one-act opera, "Madame Recamier." The two have been long enemies politically but music is something else again.

Buyers of Light Small Cars will do Well to Ponder these Facts

Essex was built to meet the demand for a small car of enduring and brilliant performance. It was never intended to dominate a price field.

Consequently its design and construction are different from the usual practice in cars selling at or near its price.

And so, also, is its performance. You see this on every hand, in the nimble, powerful way it speeds over the open road or threads through congested traffic. You see it in the endorsement of owners and the lasting character of its performance.

Essex quality is not confined to those details which please the eye. It extends to parts that can never be realized except through long severe service.

Look well to these important details when you choose a car. Be sure it is built to last, built to give long service at small cost. Ride in an Essex "6". Drive one. Note the ease of its operation and that no car regardless of size or cost rides easier.

Standard Equipment Includes: Combination Stop and Tail Light, Automatic Windshield Cleaner, Transmission Lock (built-in), Rear View Mirror, Radiator Shutters, Moto-Meter.

PERSONNEL OF EAGLES' CHARITY BOARD POSTED

John A. Abel Announces Committee To Have Charge of Fair

Announcement of the personnel of the [illegible] committee which will have [illegible] of the charity fair to be given [illegible] Buckeye Aerie, No. 337, Fraternal Order of Eagles, in its quarters on W. Center the week of Oct. 25 was made today by John A. Abel, local Eagle secretary, and final arrangements for the event are now in progress.

The committee consists of Roy Abel, chairman; George Hatchen, V. V. Bush, William Yocum, Paul Sifritt, James [illegible] W. M. Ireland, Fred T. Eaton, [illegible] Stouffer, John Haggerty and Charles D. Bender. The chairman will appoint sub-committees within a few days to plan and manage the numerous amusement and entertainment features of the fair.

Both the second and third floors of the Eagles' building at the corner of W. Center and Orchard sts will be used for the week's program. Various booths where merchandise and novelties will be sold will occupy most of the second floor, and on the third floor park plan dancing will provide entertainment for the crowds. The fair will be conducted each night of the week beginning the 25th, none of the attractions being scheduled for operation during the daytime. There will be no admission charge at the door, the plan being to raise revenue solely from the merchandise booths and entertainment features.

Charity Plans

All of the profits are to be placed in the Eagles charity fund, which is used to extend aid and relief to the poor of Marion and vicinity during the ensuing year. Calls from needy families of the communities are already reaching the lodge and will increase steadily as winter weather continues and grows in severity.

Special committees from the lodge handle distribution of the charity fund, each application being carefully investigated through cooperation of public school officials and heads of various local welfare organizations.

The Eagles' charity fund was established about seven years ago and the work has increased steadily until last year approximately $2,600 was expended in aiding numerous families of the community. It is expected that this year's charity distribution will be the largest on record.

The Blessings of Science.

Announcement has been made from Washington that radio communication may be revolutionized as a result of a series of experiments extending over a period of two months conducted by the naval radio station at Arlington. It has been demonstrated by repeated tests that printed or written pages, even pages containing thousands of words, can be transmitted by radio as easily and speedily as photographs are now transmitted through the air.

One particularly pleasing development of the experiments conducted at Arlington, and one considered of the highest importance, is that static presents no obstacle worth the name to the transmission of such printed or written pages. The static, it is said, makes the merest trace on the receiving plate in no way obliterating the message as it so often does with dots and dashes.

Early in the experimentation short messages were transmitted, the size being increased trial after trial. Shortly the entire front page of a tabloid newspaper was transmitted and then a solid page of fine writing, with the result that it was found that the written and printed pages could be sent as easily as figures, lines and dashes.

It has been the practice to send weather reports to our ships at sea. After the experiments had progressed for a time, this practice was abandoned and the weather maps were sent instead. The maps received being returned to Washington were found to be exact copies of the original maps.

What this means to our naval vessels at sea—to all shipping for that matter—may be judged from an actual experiment given publicity at the time of the announcement of the result of the Arlington experiments. The report says:

"The Florida hurricane, with its heavy toll in life and property, still is fresh in the minds of the reading public. The navy was disturbed about its ships when the hurricane was first reported. Its location and its velocity was shown by the weather map transmitted from Arlington that day to one of the two testing ships with which the station was communicating.

"That ship was in Cuban waters, not far removed from the scene of disaster, there was some speculation whether the message would be received and, if received, would be intelligible.

"The speculation was dissipated when this message came into the navy department:

"'Fair map today at noon. South of Cuba and off hurricane. Statigraphs obtained for Lieutenant Cincaid. Radio compass experiment was of assistance in locating centers and estimating intensities of two hurricanes and disturbances.

"'Robinson.'"

The experiments are not yet completed and complete and official announcement concerning them has not yet been made, but enough is known to make certain that the radio can not only be used henceforth in the quick transmission of written and printed matter, far quicker and more exact than it is liable to prove either by phone or telegraph wire service, but that it may also be utilized in the same way to safeguard travel at sea as it has never been safeguarded from storm before.

Science has made wonderful strides in recent years in protecting us from disease. We would have it understood that our use of the term, science, embraces medical and surgical science. Science has been saving us from natural death, and now science offers an additional safeguard against accidental death, if death by storm at sea may be thus termed. And it is not only possible, but also decidedly probable, that we have as yet but the faintest glimmer of the blessings science has in store for us.

TROUBLE UNDER THE HOOD.

Cooking for Health Desirable.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A letter came to me from Minneapolis asking about the effects of cooking upon food values. The writer points out the importance of retaining in the food the minerals and health-giving elements. In order to make sure they are retained, he proposes to have the cooking done without water.

One of the serious faults practiced by some cooks is the waste of the "pot likker," as they call it in the country.

In boiling the foods many of the mineral and other food properties go into solution and are contained in the cooking water. If this is poured out, of course, the contained substances are thrown away.

Foods should be cooked without water, as my correspondent suggests, or if they are boiled in water, after the cooking is sufficient, the cover should be removed and the steam permitted to escape. By this process of evaporation the minerals will be left in the pot and served with the food.

If an article of food is boiled long enough and sufficient water used to put all of its soluble parts into solution, what is left will be waste material of practically no food value. There can be no doubt that baking and what may be called dry cooking, save for the consumer the good qualities the food originally possessed.

Cooking is a fine art, and it should be understood by everybody who has occasion to prepare food. If cooking is done in a haphazard, unscientific manner, it is sure to be wasteful and even destructive of food values.

I wonder, sometimes, if we do not take for granted that everything is known about how to cook food. My correspondent appears to be a progressive thinker on this subject. If he has a method of cooking without water which prepares and renders palatable the food, he has an idea worth advancing. At the same time I am convinced that reasonable boiling in a reasonable quantity of water, with evaporation permitting the escape of steam and leaving the valuable elements in the food, is perfectly all right. However, let us experiment and see if there can be found a better method.

Thousands of tons of good food are destroyed every day by improper cooking. The quality of the food and its method of preparation have much to do with the health and welfare of those who are to eat the food. On this account instruction in cooking should be made a part of the training of every girl in America.

On this subject I have decided convictions. If I had my way, I would have every boy as well as every girl have instruction in simple cooking. He may make himself a disagreeable husband by showing off in front of his bride, but if, perchance, she has had no instruction in cooking, she may not object to receiving a few lessons from her considerate spouse.

Good cooking runs in families. Whenever you sit down to a first-class meal you know that way back in the line somewhere was a grandmother or a great-grandmother who knew how to cook. Her knowledge was transmitted from generation to generation. If one had to choose between handing down a quarter of a million dollars and handing down a knowledge of decent preparation of food, I believe the latter would be the more desirable legacy. Riches often lead to sinfulness and destruction, but good cooking maketh the heart glad and promoteth length of days.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

L. N. Q—What will keep the hair from coming out?

2—Will peroxide and lemon juice bleach freckles?

A—A good hair tonic and general care of the hair. For full particulars send a self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2—Yes, equal parts of each. Use a good cold cream after applying the preparation, which might prove drying to the skin.

B. K. Q—What would cause lumps under the arms? What is the cure for such a condition? Would the X-ray be helpful?

A—I would suggest that you have your doctor advise treatment after examination. There may be infection in the neighborhood of these glands.

E. A. Q—Would impacted wisdom teeth cause neuritis in different parts of the body?

2—What causes noises in the ears?

3—Would impacted wisdom teeth be apt to cause a rise in temperature in the afternoon?

4—Would it be dangerous to have two such teeth removed at the same time?

A—If they are diseased they would be very apt to cause such trouble.

2—Probably due to a catarrhal condition which has affected the ears. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

3—Not unless badly infected — have an examination to determine the exact cause of this symptom. It is often a sign of a tubercular condition.

4—You must consult a dentist who will advise you along these lines.—Copyright, 1926.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Vagrant Verse.

A QUESTION.

Years will take their toll, they tell us,
Youth be sorted from brimming cup,
All the ancients—though they're zealous,
Must the golden palm give up;
Arms go brittle, fragile early,
Days of blinding speed are past,
Curves that once were crafty, curly,
Feed the swinging bats at last:
Is this truth or is it slander?
Well, you tell them, Alexander!

You, who held the sluggers hitless
In the hollow of your hand,
Old are you, but far from witless,
So you won the way you planned:
Shooting sharp as Davy Crockett—
One and two and three and out—
Put the ball game in your pocket,
If there yet remains a doubt:
Tell them, tough old salamander,
Are you finished, Alexander?

Against the Primary System.

[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

Voters of Ohio have now the opportunity to be rid of the obnoxious, undemocratic, confusing, costly and un-American primary system.

It is trusted that the citizenry of the state, particularly the women of Ohio, may earnestly study the proposal to amend the constitution as submitted. It is a matter worthy of most careful thought. There is time between now and the election early in November; for citizens to fully inform themselves with reference to the proposed change, which seeks to provide for a return to true principles of republicanism by entrusting the legislature of the state with the power to provide for and devise proper election agencies and procedure.

It is urged that citizens carefully should note the ballot, entitled "Proposed Amendment to the Constitution, proposed by initiative petition."

The synopsis and context convey clearly the intent and purpose of the proposed amendment, but care should be taken by the citizen in marking his ballot. It might be advisable perhaps, for citizens to procure sample ballots from proper source, in time to familiarize themselves with the physical aspect of the ballot form. Such insistence may be held to indicate suggestion of doubt of the intelligence of the average voter, but there is no thought of intimating such infirmity. The average voter seldom goes wrong, but it sometimes happens, and most often, perhaps, he goes wrong because he is in a hurry, hasn't had time to "become wise" to questions of importance upon which he is called to cast his vote.

Representatives of active minorities in Ohio as elsewhere, desire to see the proposed amendment defeated. Let the citizens of Ohio reflect upon recent primary history in Pennsylvania and Illinois, and attempt to figure out just how much political chance a poor man will have in a primary contest with a wealthy opponent, and there will be no question about the carrying of the proposed amendment. It should receive an overwhelming popular indorsement.

Interesting Questions Asked and Their Answers.

Q. What was Graham McNamee paid for announcing the world series? R. M. S.

A. The American Telephone and Telegraph company says that Mr. McNamee receives no additional salary for announcing special events of this kind as he is on its regular pay roll and carries out whatever assignments are given to him.

Q. How deep is the water at the brink of Niagara falls, and how wide are the falls? E. W.

A. The water on top of the ledge of both the American and the Canadian falls at Niagara is twenty feet deep. The Canadian falls are 1,230 feet wide and the American 1,060 feet wide.

* * *

Q. What causes pickles to shrink? O. D.

A. Shrinking of pickles often occurs when they have been placed at once in very strong salt or sugar solutions, or even in very strong vinegars. For this reason avoid such solutions as far as possible. When a strong solution is desirable, the pickles should first be given a preliminary treatment in a weaker solution.

* * *

Q. Should evergreen trees be pruned? C. G. H.

A. The bureau of plant industry says that pruning an evergreen tree is not recommended as pruning is likely to spoil the shape of the plant. In choosing plants for any particular position, they should be selected with the thought of the ultimate height so that they will not need pruning. If they must be pruned, do it any time except in the spring when the tree is making new growth.

Q. Please distinguish between the words flammable and inflammable. A. D.

A. Inflammable in its usual sense implies explosiveness or a character that will burn readily, and flammable has the same meaning. So much confusion has resulted that the former term has been abandoned, flammable now being used to indicate ready combustibility and non flammable the opposite.

Q. When did the United States mint coin the pine tree shilling? A. H. K.

A. This was not a United States coin. It was issued during the colonial period before the regular coins were authorized.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

An ancient song has it that the old gray mare is not what she used to be. So with taxicabs. An age-withered French taxicab, one of the glorious fleet that carried an army to the Marne, passed through New York the other day on the way to Philadelphia. It is nineteen years old and its two-cylinder motor roars wheezily. It got the boys to the front. But the most interesting thing about the ancient taxicab is the price card—fifteen cents for the first five miles and five cents for each additional mile. Yes, times have changed.

Right now the United States ought to be more concerned with holding things than with making things. This rich country faces the enormous problem of waste. Conservation of natural resources, for years to come, will be our biggest issue. It is marvelous what conservation can do. The forests of Norway and Germany, cut over for centuries, ancient as the history of man, still furnish pulp wood to make paper to be shipped to America. We throw away. Europe produces and saves and produces again.

Good for the bishop of Liverpool! He would abolish hell. He says that hell is a symbol out of date. We must have a new model for wickedness. The good bishop is doubtless right in believing that most folks have left behind, with their nursery rhymes, the idea that hell is a lake of fire perpetually burning. But he can't abolish hell.

In some form it awaits, here and now in this life, the individual who will not live in accordance with the best he knows.

Marie, of Roumania, is a queen who is not overlooking the main chance to do something useful. She accepts an offer of $25,000 to work one day in the movies. She will take the part of the queen in a filming of Tolstoy's "Resurrection." But here is the big idea. She will give the entire amount for the relief of needy children in her own domain. Marie, of Roumania, bids fair to keep the queen business alive, and popularize it for some years to come.

And the world might as well have kings and queens as dictators. It's merely a matter of personalities.

In a cooking contest put on by a New York hotel the other day, Mrs. Brigid Lydon beat all comers. And she did it with one hand bandaged and out of the game. That is not strange. Brains beat hands and legs every time. Handicaps are spurs to victory for the courageous—and the smart.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, Oct. 14—In sinister dives the "Mickey Finn" is used to get rid of unwelcome visitors. It is a mixture causing violent nausea and differs from the old-time knock-out drop in that it does not render the victim unconscious.

But it often sends a patron to bed for several days. It is the Tenderloin manner of ousting those amiable alcoholics who prove an irritating. Like the old-time saloon, the modern speak-easy has its quota of chronic jags.

They prove a great nuisance to proprietors, but a boon to revenue sniffers who are able to follow the unsteady steps to a cache of hidden booch. Never before were drunks so unwelcome in places where liquor is sold as now.

When a speak-easy patron begins to show his liquor his drinks are switched to innocuous colored water and if he continues to display obnoxious hilarity he is dosed with a "Mickey Finn," the ingredients of which are tasteless. Lur O, my!

There is a story of one inebriate accustomed to staggering out of a blind pig every late afternoon. One day his feet became so tangled he sprawled on the sidewalk. A passerby stuck his head in the door and called to the proprietor: "Hey, mister, your sign fell down!"

With prohibition has come a new type of barkeeper. In other days he was a figure in his natty white coat, roached hair and expensive smile. His ear was attuned to sympathy. He had a prop cigar he pocketed many times a day in lieu of the proffered drink.

The modern barkeep is usually what the Bowery calls a "tough mug." He can only speak a few words of English and has no time for cleanliness or sympathy for any second the buzzer may sound and he must dump his stock through hidden drain pipes.

A taxi careened around a Park avenue corner on one wheel and dipped dangerously toward a smash-up. A white faced fare got out at the next corner. "What were you trying to do?" he demanded of the driver. "Whadda you mean tryin', I did it!" was the reply. "It was us or them"—and he pointed back to three little children playing in the street. He got a $10 tip.

Speaking of former barkeeps I am told the younger ones in New York were picked up by a chain of cigar stores and eighty per cent. became capable clerks and many store managers. One indeed is a capable executive stationed in Europe. Some older ones turned to the soft drink parlors, but it wasn't to their liking.

Those high-powered executives who function on eight-cylinders must—or think they must—save one second. A friend tells of one—the type who features having nothing on his desk—and nothing irritates me more—who received a call at 2 o'clock in the afternoon to start for California at 3. He merely said to his secretary, "I leave for the coast at 3." The friend continued his talk and went to the train with the great man in a limousine that was outside ten minutes before train time. A valet was at the train gates with trunk check and hand luggage. A "traveling secretary" was there with through drawing-room tickets and portable typewriter. Only the single order to the secretary had been given. — Copyright, 1926.

Who's Who and Why.

PRINCESS ASTRID AND PRINCE LEOPOLD.

As arrangements for their wedding on November 20 are gradually nearing completion, Princess Astrid of Sweden and Prince Leopold of Belgium are in the limelight in this country as well as abroad.

Princess Astrid has never visited the United States, but Prince Leopold accompanied his famous father and mother on their tour of the United States in 1919. Like many other European princes he was educated at Eton, where he excelled in outdoor sports.

He is rather shy and quiet, but he shares a large measure of his father's popularity with the Belgian people. In spite of the fact that he has been kept busy attending to the many duties which a crown prince must perform, European matchmakers have linked his name with all of the eligible princesses on the continent, but he paid no attention to them, preferring to choose his own consort. Reports from Brussels stress the love element in this match rather than its political significance.

Although Princess Astrid is but twenty, she is well known both in England and on the continent, where she frequently has visited royal relatives. When she recently spent some time at Windsor castle rumors linked her name with the most eligible bachelor in all Europe, the Prince of Wales.

Since she prefers action to the traditional life of a princess two years ago the princess entered the Stockholm orphanage as a novice and took its entire course in the care of infants, which included scrubbing and sweeping as well as more pleasant tasks.

Princess Astrid is also an accomplished horsewoman and she can drive a car, sail a boat, play tennis and dance gracefully.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

Maybe I told you how the Swedes are running the Scotch a hot race for the thrift sweepstakes. The Scotch even made money out of the fog that covers their island. They called it Scotch mist and then named a color after it and sold twice as many yards of golf pants as they'd sold before. But in Sweden they say ten generations have died from worrying how to ship the Swedish galciers down to Brazil without too much shrinkage. It just breaks their hearts to see nothing but scenery made out of them glaciers.

Well, the worst thrift joke I heard tell of today was about an old fellow in Hibbing, Minnesota, that had some green grass around his house, and one day his wife, Olga, come in and said:

"Oscar, there is three cows eating up the grass, and I tank they come from the dairy down the road."

Oscar, he gets all excited and impatient at Olga for taking it so easy.

"You run and shut the gate," he says, "and then you phone the dairy we won't need for them to stop tomorrow or next day. I'll be milking the cows all dry before they get a notion to go home. Grass costs us nothing, Olga, but our milk bill is terrible big."—Copyright, 1926.

Coolidge Asked To Aid Indiana Political Investigation

PLEA IS SENT TO WHITE HOUSE BY PUBLISHER

Senate Investigating Committee To Turn Spotlight on Charges of Graft

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 14—Indiana's probe of "Stephensonism" in her state and municipal governments crept to the door of the White House today.

A telegram, urging President Coolidge to use his influence to have the story of alleged political corruption brought into the light of day, was dispatched by Thomas H. Adams, Vincennes publisher, acting as chairman of an independent probe committee.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 14—The senate special investigating committee will meet in Chicago next Monday morning at 10 o'clock to turn its spotlight on the Indiana political activities of the Ku Klux Klan and charges of graft and corruption recently made there, Senator James A. Reed, chairman of the committee, said today.

The senator made his announcement just before departing for Joplin to fill a speaking engagement there today.

Yielding to the demands made from many sources in Indiana, the Missouri senator who has had charge of the investigations which recently unearthed expenditures in the election campaigns in Pennsylvania and Illinois, decided this morning to have the committee look into the Indiana scandal. Definite plans of the committee's proposed investigation would be worked out between now and the date for the Chicago meeting, Senator Reed said. Referring to the numerous reports that have emanated from Indiana and other points, the senator added that "too much speculation had been made about his plans."

Subpenas to Be Issued

Subpenas probably will be issued today in Chicago for those whose names have come before the public in the Indiana scandal in which charges of graft and corruption have revolved around the figure of D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Indiana klan, now serving a penitentiary sentence at Michigan City.

"I am not ready to discuss fully the plans of our committee," Senator Reed said. "I have called the committee to meet in Chicago next Monday and that is all I care to say. Our definite plans will be made in the meantime. Too much speculation already has been made about the plans of the committee."

Following his speaking engagement at Joplin today Senator Reed will begin to direct the plans for his investigating committee. Speaking dates which had been arranged for the next two weeks in Missouri have been cancelled, although the senator said he hoped to return to the state later to do some campaigning for Congressman Harry B. Hawes, democratic candidate for United States Senator.

ANNOUNCEMENT CAUSES SURPRISE

Washington, Oct. 14—Announcement by Senator James A. Reed, in St. Louis today that the special senate committee of which he is chairman, will meet in Chicago next Monday to consider the stories of corruption in Indiana's political structure caused considerable surprise in the capital today.

It had been understood by members of the senate here and by political leaders generally that the Indiana situation would not be made the subject of inquiry by Reed's committee because of the local character of the charges.

SECOND APPEARANCE OF STEPHENSON LOOMS

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 14—A second appearance of D. C. Stephenson, potentate of Indiana's alleged super-government, before the Marion County grand jury in session here to probe the charges of corruption in high places of state and city governments, loomed today on the investigation horizon, clouded and befogged with charges and counter-charges, whispered conferences, secret meetings and sudden goings and comings of the principal actors in this drama.

Charges Are Made

Although it was the consensus of opinion today that the former grand klengle of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan had failed to "blow 'em out of the water" in the brief 50 minutes during which he was closeted with the Marion County grand jury here yesterday, there were indications today that the "hot seat" might be returned here again from the state penitentiary at Michigan City to answer specific questions concerning charges voiced by Floyd Carson, of Noblesville, his former attorney.

Christian's statement was made late yesterday and it came as virtually the only bright spot in a day of disappointment for the committee, headed by Thomas H. Adams, Vincennes, Ind., publisher, which is pushing the probe.

In it Christian declared that, while acting as Stephenson's counsel during his trial for murder for the death of Madge Oberholtzer, for which he is now serving a life sentence, he saw in Stephenson's possession a cancelled check for $5,000 made payable to Governor Ed Jackson. He also saw, according to his statement, a letter bearing what was claimed to be the signature of Mayor John Duvall, of Indianapolis, in which the mayor guaranteed Stephenson favors in return for his support in the election.

Hearing Awaited

It is these documents, among others, which Adams and his committee claim to have in their possession in photostatic copies and Christian's statement, corroborating Adams, was generally hailed as a 10-strike for the prosecution. Not only through the fact itself, but also because of Christian's high standing throughout the state.

This Adams felt, and his point was generally conceded, would lend great additional weight to the entire probe, which had entered on something of an unstable and uncertain career today.

The appearance of Stephenson before the grand jury and at the civil hearing yesterday had been an occasion fought for and looked forward to for days. Stephenson himself, through his friends declared that if he could once get outside the walls of the penitentiary, he would tell a story to all who might want to listen, which would shake the entire state.

Governor Jackson today categorically denied that he had ever received any checks or moneys from Stephenson.

"D. C. Stephenson never at any time gave me a check or any sum as a gift or for campaign purposes and any statement that he did is absolutely false," the governor stated.

KENTUCKY BANK FILES ANSWER IN HEAD CASE

Suit Involves $17,552.04 and 245 Acres in Grand Prairie Township

The Kentucky Joint Stock Land Bank of Lexington, Ky., today filed an answer in the $17,000 foreclosure suit of the Marion County Bank against Mr. and Mrs. Depew Head, former residents of Grand Prairie Township, setting up their claims in the property involved in the suit.

A few weeks ago, the Marion County Bank Co., filed action in Common Pleas Court against Mr. and Mrs. Read, claiming a judgment for $17,552.04 and asking foreclosure of a mortgage on 245 acres of land in Grand Prairie Township.

The money is claimed due on promissory notes delivered to the Lexington Bank and later assigned to the Marion County Bank of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Head, formerly prominent residents of Grand Prairie Township, now live in Columbus.

Seeks Judgment

Mrs. Josephine Seckel, 631 Irey-av, today filed action in Common Pleas Court against Lola May and William H. Siples, asking judgment for $250.

Mrs. Seckel asserts that Mr. and Mrs. Siples delivered to her a warranty deed for their property on Irey-av with the premises supposedly carrying only a mortgage of $2050. Mrs. Seckel states that the property was in reality encumbered by a $2300 mortgage and she was forced to pay the difference of $250.

To Receive Bids

Bids on bonds totaling $10,800 were to be received in the office of Marion County Commissioners this afternoon. The bonds are issued for the Dry Lane-rd improvement in Montgomery Township.

Convention Rushing Work To Close for Adjournment Tonight or Friday

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 14—The A. F. of L. convention today successfully sidestepped the Mexican state-church-labor controversy. It restricted by agreement of leaders any discussion of Mexican affairs to a perfunctory consideration and adoption of a resolution authorizing the A. F. of L. to appoint American members of a joint commission to deal with immigration problems along the border.

Rushing its work to adjournment tonight or tomorrow morning the convention today disposed of remaining phases of the resolutions committee's and executive council's reports and received the report of the committee on education.

DOCUMENTS IN AIMEE CASE REPORTED STOLEN

Letter from Ormiston to Evangelist Included in Lot, Hahn Announces

Los Angeles, Oct. 14—Important documents bearing upon the Aimee Semple McPherson case, including a letter received by the evangelist from Kenneth G. Ormiston, her former radio man, on Aug. 8, have been stolen from the office of S. S. Hahn, attorney for Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff, confessed perpetrator of the "Miss X" hoax, Hahn announced today.

Hahn said the documents were kept in a secret compartment in his office desk.

"With the exception of the letter from Ormiston to Mrs. McPherson, I can duplicate the other documents", Hahn declared.

In the Ormiston letter to Mrs. McPherson sent from Chicago, Hahn said the radio man promised to keep in close touch with the Angelus Temple pastor and come to Los Angeles to help her whenever she wanted him to come.

"This letter had not been made public", Hahn added.

Telephone slips showing the evangelist called both Ormiston and Ormiston's attorney Edward H. S. Martin, in Chicago, were included in the missing documents, Hahn said.

Officials at the district attorney's office pointed out that this was the third disappearance of important documentary evidence in the McPherson case during the last several weeks.

DECISION IN RAIGHLEY CASE EXPECTED NOV. 15

Attorneys for Masonic Temple Co. Present Arguments in Cincinnati Court

Arguments of attorneys in the suit brought in contesting the will of the late Harry Raichley of Marion occupied the entire morning session of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, Wednesday, the case having been carried to that tribunal on error and appeal by relatives of Mr. Raichley who are seeking to break the will.

Nearly all of the Raichley estate, valued at approximately $200,000 was bequeathed to the Marion Masonic Temple Co. Mrs. May Berg and Frederick C. Raichley, cousins of Burr Raichley, are the plaintiffs. Mrs. Berg is a resident of Minnesota and Mr. Raichley lives in Wisconsin. Officials of the Masonic Temple Co. and executors of the will are the defendants.

The decision of the appellate court is expected in about Nov. 15. The suit was appealed after the United States court in Toledo sustained a demurrer of the executors and Masonic Temple Co. claiming that the federal tribunal has no jurisdiction in the matter and that the Common Pleas Court of Marion County is the proper place for the proceeding. The petition of the plaintiffs was accordingly dismissed.

Grant E. Mouser, Sr., of the firm of Mouser, Young & Mouser, Fred E. Guthery of the firm of Guthery, Steeltz & Guthery, and John H. Bartram appeared in the Cincinnati court for the Masonic Temple Co. and James H. Eymon for the executors. The plaintiffs were represented by lawyers from Kansas City and Toledo. William P. Moloney of this city is also one of the plaintiffs' counsel but did not attend the hearing.

All of the Marion attorneys returned from Cincinnati Wednesday night.

CLUB AFFAIRS SOCIAL EVENTS CHURCH NOTES

Social Activities

Miss Isabelle Bower of Waldo and Alfred Donithen of this city were married at 10:30 o'clock this morning at Trinity Lutheran Church, Columbus, Rev. Jesse Baumgardner, former pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Waldo, reading the single ring service.

The bride was charming in a frock of rose crepe romaine with a picture hat and accessories in corresponding shades and her flowers were an arm bouquet of Bride's Roses and blue delphinium. Her attendant was Miss Margaret Williams of Marion, who wore a gown of Jungle Green with a hat in the same shade and a corsage of Ophelia Roses. George Timmons of Columbus, was best man.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Marsmor and later Mr. and Mrs. Donithen left on a 10-day wedding trip to Washington, Philadelphia and other points in the east. The bride wore for traveling a tailored gown in black flat crepe with a coat of imported tweed with fur trimming.

Mrs. Donithen is the daughter of Mrs. J. D. Bower of Waldo. She is a graduate of the Waldo High School, 1919, and Ohio Northern University, and a member of Theta Phi Delta Sorority. For the past six years she has been employed as a teacher in the Waldo schools.

Mr. Donithen is the son of Homer [illegible] and with embroidery work. In a contest honors were awarded Mrs. Jacob Bolinger. A six o'clock dinner was served. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Frank Stanley, Thew-av.

Necklines Depend Upon Whims of Dressmakers

Paris, Oct. 14—Necklines depend largely upon the whims of the dressmaker so that it is difficult to say just what will be the most popular cut of the coming winter.

It is very obvious, however, that the high, tight-fitting neck will be seen very frequently on sport and afternoon dresses. The neckline with the accent laid upon the rear view will also be a pet of the season with braiding or embroidery forming a loop or design in the back.

The Lanvin fur collar is very original. It follows the line of the neck and opens out to receive the head.

Worth favors high necks for his afternoon and street frocks, usually finished with a little turnover, either of the material of the frock or of the color with which it is trimmed. Many of the designers are using a jabot of georgette or lace with this collar.

Paul Poiret sponsors the long practical jabot. A black street gown with gold embroidery and an emerald green collar has a jabot of green georgette which reaches from the neck to the waistline. Another in black broadcloth has three straight tiers and the bodice of plain rose-beige crepe de chine with a high neck, with turnover collar and a square tab embroidered in black.

Russian peasant and Chinese necklines are not so popular as last year but the long V neck, formed by the coat-dress and the hexagonal one, will be very much in vogue. For evening, the daringly low neckline in the back, either round, V-shaped or square, is much in favor.

CONGRESSMAN AND WIFE IN CHARGE OF PROGRAM

Congressman and Mrs. Brooks Fletcher were in charge of a splendid program presented at the Central Junior High School auditorium yesterday morning. Congressman Fletcher addressed the students on the subject, "What We Saw and Heard in Washington, D. C."

The main thought of his address was the necessity of "being a friend to have friends" which he said was the character of both President and Mrs. Coolidge. "President Coolidge," he told the students, "bases his success largely on his power to make friends."

Mrs. Fletcher entertained with two solo numbers, "Spring's a Loveable Lady, Dear," and a medley made up of a group of old-fashioned songs. She also led in the signing of "America" with which the program closed. Her accompanist was Mrs. Marie Kimel-Baker of this city.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

T[illegible]'s satisfaction Celia shrank [illegible]. But though these circ[illegible] details carried a certain [illegible]ber faith in her sister's [illegible] determination was not [illegible]fied.

"I believe—I mean, she might [illegible] that to deceive the detective, [illegible] never come here without—" [illegible]'s know he was a detective. [illegible] never looked at him. But [illegible]e order her trunk sent to [illegible]ensional Limited, and after[illegible]llowed her across the river [illegible]ing a ticket for Washing[illegible]an she was with said he'd [illegible] the dock Saturday. So you [illegible]e amounts to. She's fooled [illegible]on you over, as she does ev[illegible]. She's a selfish, disloyal in[illegible]out any natural affection or [illegible] any common sense—and you're headed in the same direction. As long as you keep it up you won't have any friends. Nobody has any use for you now, and nobody's going to do anything for you. When you come to your senses and promise to do as you're told—and apologize to your mother and me for this performance—you can go down to New York and enjoy yourself, with friends I approve of. Until then you'll stay here."

"You can't lock me up long—not after I'm of age," she faltered.

"What's the reason I can't? If you make trouble after you're of age, I'll have you declared mentally incompetent and put into a sanitarium under guard."

"Oh, no—no, you couldn't!" she gasped, as much in question as in protest. She was too young and ignorant to be sure that he could not carry out this threat, and experience had given her a terror of his power.

"You'll see whether I can or not. No girl in her right mind acts as you have. I think you're just a fool, but you may be crazy. If you're not, prove it. It's up to you. Think it over."

With that he turned abruptly and entered the house, from which a woman immediately emerged to keep an eye on the culprit. A few minutes later Celia also went in, drooping. To the two watching from the hillside she seemed like a wilted flower.

For some time they kept their glasses focused upon the house, but could discover no indications of unusual activity, no bustle of preparation for a hurried flitting. Servants appeared and disappeared apparently following their customary routine. The only one whom Roberta recognized was Cody, the chauffeur; the others, she said, she had never seen before.

They discussed briefly various impracticable suggestions for Celia's rescue, but in the end Piggy dismissed them all with a shrug.

"It's no good planning," he said. "Nothing ever happens as you think it's going to. The best way is to be ready for anything and jump when you see a chance. We'll stay here watching as long as we can. Then, if there's no sign of their skipping out, we'll go straight to Greenfield and buy the stuff we need before Janet comes. You'd better make a list."

He gave her an envelope from his pocket and a pencil, but Roberta sat looking off over the tapestried autumnal hills with a troubled frown.

"It isn't fair," she said, after long thought.

"What isn't fair?"

"For you to have to spend a lot more money for knives, and forks and towels and things."

"Rats! That's what money's for. What does a little more matter?"

"But you're doing so much, anyway. I don't know what I should have done, if it hadn't been for you."

She lifted clear, glowing eyes to his and Piggy was shaken by a new sensation—an anomalous compound of warmth and shivery chill, creeping skin, tingling nerves, and racing pulses. He had felt something remotely akin to it before—when he stood poised to dive off Brooklyn Bridge, for example, but this was different.

"Rates!" he said gruffly, averting his glance. "That's all right. It's bully good sport."

"I know. I wouldn't mind so much if I could do my share. If only I had a little money, for instance."

"Well, I offered to loan you all you need, didn't I? That goes. Want some more? It's cheap at the price." Recovering himself on familiar ground, he gave her his wide, boyish smile. "I haven't had so much fun since Towser was a pup. But it's a fool thing to let yourself get so short, especially while traveling. How'd you come to do it?"

"I didn't have very much saved, you see, and I spent most of it for—for my trousseau. Then, that last morning on the train, my purse disappeared. I must have dropped it, and whoever found it kept it. After I left the train I found a quarter in my coat pocket—"

"And gave it to the red-cap!" he exclaimed, his eyes shining. "By golly, you're a sport!"

"It wouldn't have done me much good," she said, laughing, and coloring a little, too. "But I can't let you do it all. I'm going to write to Clif and ask him to send me some money."

"Who's Clif?"

"Clifford Nixon—my fiance."

"Oh."

"I'll have to tell him where I am, anyway, and while I'm doing that—"

"What for? What's he got to do with it?"

"Well, we're engaged, you know."

"Are you going to marry that fellow, after the way he threw you down?" he demanded, forgetting that the conjugal transference to Nixon of the not inconsiderable cost of this expedition had been his own suggestion.

"Why, of course! He didn't throw me down—exactly."

"Huh!"

"You see, Clif's a business man. He makes the Nixon engine."

"A punk engine it is, too."

"He's trying to make it better, and something must have happened—something important—so he had to go somewhere right away. It's a comparatively new company, and he can't afford to have things go wrong. He'll come back as soon as he can, and he'll be frantic if he finds I've disappeared and left no word for him."

"Let him fran," Piggy callously recommended. "Do him good."

CHAPTER NINETEEN

"I don't think that would be quite fair, do you? Besides, he might be so worried that he'd tell father." Roberta's brow clouded.

"He can't tell him what he doesn't know, can he?" asked Piggy.

"He can say I made him promise to help me get Celia away—but I don't think he'll tell father that."

"Well, he didn't help you. He said you mustn't make a move on any account, and something about serious consequences. What did that mean?"

"I don't know." She admitted uneasily. "Unless father's got some hold on him. They used to be great friends. You see, I've been living abroad and haven't seen Clif for a long time—it's a year and a half—so I'm not as well posted as I might be. Anyway, I think I ought to let him know I'm not lost."

"All right. Let him know." Piggy was as near being sullen as one of his cheerful nature could become. "Go and spoil it all, if you want to. Just like a girl!"

"But—Peter!"

"Go ahead and give the whole thing away. I'll get out."

"Oh, la, la! What on earth's the matter with you?"

Piggy was quite sure that he knew what was the matter. She was going to mess up a perfectly corking sporting proposition with sentiment. She wanted to bring into the game again a fellow who had already backed down once and left her in a hole. Of all despicable creatures in the known world, the one he most hated was a quitter. Nixon was a quitter. Therefore he hated him. To his mind his reasoning was axiomatic in its clarity but he did not voice it.

Instead, he sat dumbly poking into the pine needles with a twig, flushed and indignant, and after regarding him a moment in dismay Roberta said softly:

"I never dreamed you'd feel that way about it. Why, Peter, I can't do this without you! You've been perfectly wonderful, and if anybody can get Celia awhy you can. I thought I ought to let Clif know I hadn't been murdered, or kidnapped or pushed down a crack somewhere and stepped on. But I won't if you don't want me to—if you think it would spoil anything."

"Sure it would. Spoil everything—every way," he grumbled. "In the first place, he doesn't want you to do this and he'd stop it if he could. In the second place, the fewer people who know where we are, the better. In the third place, he'd come chasing up here after you and queer the whole works by showing himself, or something. Besides, I'm not going to take any more chances than I have to of being identified with this business. We can do it by ourselves, but if you want to get him into it, all right. I'll get out."

"I don't want to. You're a lot better at this sort of thing than he'd be," she said frankly. "But so far you've done everything, and I——"

"Your turn will come. Don't fret."

"All right. I won't any more. We're partners, Peter." She held out her hand and Piggy took in a close grip, man-wise. Tiny like the rest of her, it was a firm little hand, yet curiously soft. He liked the feeling of it, but it gave him that queer warm shiver, and he dropped it precipitately. Turning way to cover his strange embarrassment, he caught sight of the parcel of crackers and cheese.

"Hungry?" he asked, picking it up.

"Peter! Did you bring something to eat? Oh, la, la! You are a wonder! I'm ravenous."

Peace established between them again, they contentedly munched their food. Evidently luncheon was in progress at Birchwood, also, as no one was visible for some time. Eventually the door opened and a short, pudgy woman crossed the terrace, followed by Celia's listless figure.

"That's mother," said Roberta.

Piggy surveyed the lady through the glass in silence, but to himself he said: She certainly looks the part. Cushions and cream for hers. Claws, too, I shouldn't wonder."

The two below, unconscious of observation, walked slowly towards a small orchard stretching along the hillside to the edge of the woodland.

"Out for exercise, I guess," he commented.

"And nagging," Roberta added. "Poor Celia!"

Presently the chauffeur was seen going toward the garage. Three dogs, who had been asleep behind their kennels, made a dash for him and were jerked to a stop at the end of their chains, when they fell to barking.

"Aha!" said Piggy. "There's the rest of the garrison. Turned loose at night, I suppose. Well—I like dogs, but there are times when they've superfluous. I wonder what that fellow's up to? Looks as if he was going to take out the car."

The chauffeur had opened the wide door of the garage, and a moment later he backed out Scott's heavy black automobile, turned, and drove down the private road toward the highway.

"Going for gas, I guess," Piggy said. "Listen."

Through the crisp, silent air came the hum of the engine as the car turned westward up a slight grade.

"Sure Mike! Come on," he commanded triumphantly.

"Where?"

"Wherever he's going. Keene, probably. They can't get away while he's gone. That just shows you that plans are no good. You never know what chance may offer."

"But I don't see—"

"Aw, wake up! I'll cultivate him while you shop. Us shofers stand together, lady. Maybe I'll find out something. Come on. Hustle!"

Piggy took the road to Keene at a lively clip, but Scott's man, after the manner of chauffeurs driving alone, had been equally expeditious and they did not overtake him. Entering the city at a more discreet speed, Mrs. Smith's car drew up before the most promising-looking dry-goods emporium facing the pub-square and Peter Brown sprang out to open the door of the tonneau. As she stepped to the curb, he saluted respectfully and remarked in an undertone:

"Now wrap the draperies of your grief about you and sit down for a pleasant time. It may take me half an hour or so to get around this guy."

EXPERIENCE OF WESTERN GIRL

Found Cannery Work Too Tiring

The fertile valleys of Oregon help to supply the tables of America.

In one of the canning establishments, Julia Schmidt was employed. It was complicated work because she did sealing and other parts of the work. It was strenuous work and she was not a strong girl. Often she forced herself to work when she was hardly able to sit at her machine. At times she would have to stay at home for she was so weak she could hardly walk. For five years she was in this weakened condition.

She tried various medicines. At last, a friend of hers spoke of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Miss Schmidt gave it a trial.

"Everyone says I am a healthier and stronger girl," she writes. "I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to all my friends who tell me how they suffer and I am willing to answer letters from women asking about it." Julia Schmidt's address is 652 North Front St., Salem, Oregon. For sale by all druggists.

THREE-DAY COLDS THREATEN LUNGS

A cough or cold that hangs on after the third day is a threat.

Do something! Don't wait until the cold has run its course—from your head to your throat—from throat to chest or bronchial tubes. Break up your cold before it settles in this "danger zone"; for inflammation spreads, and your bronchial tubes lead directly into your lungs!

Quickly and unfailingly Ayer's Cherry Pectoral goes straight to the seat of trouble. With the very first swallow you feel its comforting warmth. You feel its soothing, healing powers reaching deep down into your bronchial tubes. You feel it penetrating through and through the irritated membranes.

This healing medication, absorbed into the membranes themselves, breaks up the cold, stops the cough, brings prompt and lasting relief.

If you are catching cold; if you have a "head cold"; if your chest is tight; if you have a cough — even if bronchitis has developed — Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once!

Cherry Pectoral is pleasant, safe and dependable—for children and grown people. At all druggists—50c; twice as much, $1.00. 2a1b

So Many Endure Catarrh Needlessly

There is no reason why anyone should bear with the distress of stopped-up head, constant phlegm in the throat, irritating mucous discharge, or other unpleasant effects of catarrh. Thousands have proved that you, too, can get rid of catarrh. The real cause of catarrh is an inflamed condition of the delicate lining of nose, throat and head—the mucous membrane. Clear that up and catarrh vanishes; bad breath and catarrhal deafness disappear. To do this use Hall's Catarrh Medicine, successful for over 40 years. Go to your druggist and get the combined 2-in-1 treatment today. Or send 10c to F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Puzzled

NEVER have I worked so hard in my life as I did during the days following the receipt of Hugh Grantland's cablegram and my transmission of its veiled message to my father over the telephone. When, after reading it to him, he had said that he meant to run up to the city and "play around" with me a bit, as we used to do, my pulses had thrilled like those of a school girl anticipating her first grown-up party.

For well I knew what my father meant by "playing around." Not even Dicky can entertain so royally as can my father, who for so long was known as the "Quester" of Broadway, and I knew that the best that the city had to offer would be mine for the choosing when he should arrive.

Madge's Father Is a Lavish Host

I must keep every moment possible free for him. I knew that. Fortunately, Philip Veritzen was to be out of the city for a week, and had told me that he did not wish me to report to anyone else, but to wait until his return for submitting the work I had done. This, however, did not mean that he would expect any lessening of the energy with which I was turning out my work, and I therefore doubled the hours of my working days, and tripled my energy, working at fever heat until I had satisfied myself that I had accomplished enough to permit me to take my holiday with a clear conscience. Then I went shopping with the blessed consciousness that when the bills came in I should have money of my very own to meet them. Luckily I can walk into a shop, put on a gown and walk out again, and I bought a dinner-gown, a smart coat, a hat and accessories. These were purchases that I had denied myself ever since Dicky had been struggling with the new art magazine in which he had invested his capital.

I was thankful that at the end of my working and shopping orgies I was able to have a rest of a full day and night before my father's arrival. For when he came he was like a restless boy, sweeping me from restaurant to theater, to supper club, each the last word of its kin in the city and so plainly evidencing his desire to keep me to himself that I was afraid Dicky would be offended at not being included in my father's invitations.

Never is my father at any pains to conceal the almost idolatrous love he bears me—a love all the stronger for being tinged with the awful remorse which is his, for his having deserted my mother when I was four years old. Never has he forgiven himself for that sin of his young manhood, nor ceased to mourn not only for my mother, but for the fact that he was not successful in his long search for me until I was a grown woman and a wife.

It was not until the last night of his stay that I noticed anything markedly different in his words and attitude toward me, although there had lurked in my mind the impression that his gayety was a bit forced, and that while he was reveling in my patent enjoyment of the treat he was giving me, there was something more serious ever present in his mind.

Madge Senses Something Queer

"What do you say to a drive along the Hudson and up into Westchester? There is a quiet but wonderful restaurant which makes a specialty of the sea foods you like so well," he said. "Then we'll have the full moonlight on our drive back."

"What do you imagine I'll say?" I countered, smiling. "What would any woman in her senses say to a program like that except, 'Thank you; I'd love to.'"

I punctuated my answer with an embrace and a kiss, but there was in the clasp of his arms, as he returned my embrace, a sort of desperate clinging tenderness as if he feared to let me go.

HOW TO REDUCE VARICOSE VEINS

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first-class drug store and apply it night and morning as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet most powerful germicide and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic cases of Piles are often entirely absorbed and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. POPULAR RED'S PROMINENT IN THIS TWO-PIECE SUIT

Plenty of red is seen in today's costumes. Red that glows even amid the vivid autumn foliage. It is the principle theme of the dress pictured—a two-piece frock most charmingly suited to the fall. The skirt is red crepe de chine in this instance but might easily be made of a more weighty material. The overblouse is plaid velvet in red and green tones. The collar and tie are red crepe de chine and belt of red leather. The accompanying hat is woven red and white worsted with red ribbon and ends.

"Druggists all over America sell PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 35 cents a large box and I say to those druggists, if anyone buys my ointment for any of the diseases or ailments for which I recommend it and are not benefited, give them their money back."

"I've got a safe full of thankful letters testifying to the mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment for old and running sores, eczema, salt rheum, ulcers, sore feet, broken breast, itching scalp, chafing and blind, itching and bleeding piles."

T. G. Robertson, of 593 Locaine Street, Detroit, writes: "I suffered with piles for over 25 years—nothing did me any good. After my fourth box of Peterson's Ointment I am nearly cured. It is the greatest ointment I ever heard of."—Adv.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this home-made syrup, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and it is splendid for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

COAST OF NEW SOUTH WALES IS SWEPT BY FIRE

Valuable Timber and Herds of Cattle Burned; Settlers Flee Homes

London, Oct. 14—Disastrous bush fires are sweeping the New South Wales coast, driving settlers from their homes and destroying valuable timber and burning herds alive, according to a Sydney dispatch to the Evening News.

A message from Brisbane says that city is encircled by flaming bush, and that every hill within 15 miles is ablaze. It is indicated that it is not anticipated that he fires will reach the city limits of Brisbane.

Two dispatches state that the fires are most devastating in the country north of Sydney. The country between Lismore and Port Macquarrie for a distance of a hundred miles is ablaze, with a nine-mile frontage of flames between Myrtle Creek and Illangewan.

Strong winds are fanning the flames and dry grass and timber are furnishing tinder-like fuel.

Fire Spread Rapid

The spread of the fire has been so rapid that settlers have been forced to flee without taking much of their property with them, many of them seeing their homes in flames as they fled.

Entire settlements are believed to have been destroyed by the fires.

Cattle and livestock have fled in panic before the flames, and huge losses are mounting to owners of cattle.

The losses in timber land will run into huge figures, it is feared.

Although every effort is being made to check the sweep of the flames, human efforts have proved puny when pitted against the forces of nature.

What Are You Doing for Your Puny Child?

One Boy Gained 11 Pounds in 7 Weeks and Is Now Strong and Healthy.

For weak, frail, under-developed children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, Cod Liver Oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs—so now up-to-date chemists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11½ pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at Bradley's Drug Store, Henney & Cooper and all druggists—but be sure and insist on McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Give them to the sickly, frail child for 30 days and if they don't help—wonderfully, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.—Adv.

CONNIE SEEKS FREEDOM FROM MATE

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—Will a "friendly divorce" terminate the marriage of Constance Talmadge and Captain Alastair William MacIntosh? Friends of the screen star here believe a permanent separation is near since Connie has departed for Hollywood, and her husband is about to return to his native England.

Some six months ago Connie surprised her friends by marrying the Englishman, whom she had met four years before in Paris. Just when they were momentarily expecting Buster Collier to lead her to the altar, Connie said "Yes" to MacIntosh.

Connie had no time for a honeymoon since she was making a picture then. Months later she went abroad with her husband to meet his kin. All was rosy and Connie even danced with the Prince of Wales. Since her return to this country rumors of a separation have been current.

When Connie discovered that her first marriage (to John Pinlogiou, a wealthy Greek), interfered with her screen career she separated from him in a most friendly fashion and obtained a divorce while insisting they were on the best of terms even though no longer man and wife.

Will her separation from MacIntosh be as friendly? Her friends here are inclined to believe it will. Constance is perfectly willing to remain friends, there evidently haven't been any quarrels or hard-feelings, but single blessedness is to be preferred when one has a career, she opines.

OLD ARMY GAME PLAYED IN AKRON

Akron, Oct. 14—"It's the old army game," declared workmen here today as they sprayed chemicals about county school houses to combat several regiment of cooties.

Classes have been suspended. A few days ago one of the local high schools was forced to take similar steps against an invasion of fleas. Yesterday when teachers in the county schools noticed their pupils squirming significantly, they began another investigation. They suspected insects more sanguinary than the flea. A World War veteran happened along and was invited to give expert advice.

"You got 'em," he succinctly declared as he edged away.

PRIMARY LAW MODIFICATION CHIEF ISSUE

Press of Ohio Points to Proposed Change as Outstanding Question

Columbus, O. Oct. 14—Editorial comment in Ohio newspapers indicates that the proposed primary modification amendment is the outstanding issue of the November election, Nathan N. Cook, executive secretary of the Ohio Primary Modification Committee, said today.

In substantiation of his statement, Cook pointed to what the press of Ohio through well-known mediums is saying in regard to the issue which now is taking precedence in the news and editorial columns.

The issue, said Cook, is not merely a local proposition, but affects the country at large, inasmuch as Vice President Dawes and other federal administrators have contended that the direct primary mainly is responsible for the ham-stringing of the national government through the erasure of party lines, against which Nicholas Longworth speaker of the House, and an Ohioan, has been fighting.

Comments

The Cincinnati Enquirer in its lead editorial, Oct. 12, said: "Voters of Ohio have now the opportunity to be rid of the obnoxious, undemocratic, confusing, costly and un-American primary system."

Mr. Cook referred to other editorial comments, among which he quoted the Cleveland Times as saying: "The direct primary system of nominating party candidates is under fire in virtually every one of the 45 states where it is in use. There is widespread agreement that the plan has failed to accomplish the things its proponents claimed it would accomplish, but there is less agreement concerning a remedy."

The Lima News, said: "There is no dispute over the fact that there is widespread dissatisfaction over the state with the primary in its present form."

Of the direct primary, the Millersburg, O., Hub said: "Nothing has worked more into the moulding hands of the big bosses than has the direct primary."

Blade Editorial

The Toledo Blade said: "The people can appeal to the next legislature for a wooden leg or a crutch for a limping law which halts at the threshold of inquiry."

The Oberlin News asserted that "It has felt for 10 years or more that the primary statute was a mistaken public policy and this feeling has grown with the years."

The Circleville Union Herald, officially declared that "evidences of revolt against the direct primary system are mounting far and wide."

"There are a lot of thinking men and women who are giving their sympathy and aid in support of the difficult but courageous campaign being launched by Charles L. Knight, of Akron well-known publisher, to do away with the direct primary system of Ohio."

"The primary election system has invited its own repudiation," according to the Newark Tribune editorially, while the Marietta Perry Times asserted that "While it is by no means certain that primary elections will be discarded in Ohio, the tendency is in that direction."

"If the people of Ohio still want the present primary system with all its weaknesses and its enormous cost to the taxpayer," declared the Lima Star, "they will now be in a position to make their desires known at the polls."

"POSITIVE AGITATION"

The GREATER HOOVER

It pays to know the difference between The HOOVER and a vacuum cleaner

"POSITIVE AGITATION" is beating, reduced to a scientific process by the patented Hoover Agitator. Do not fail to see this new cleaning principle demonstrated.

This is the difference

FIRST the spray of leaves, then the besom, then the broom, then the vacuum cleaner. So has the hardest phase of woman's household work been carried steadily onward into higher and easier spheres.

Now still another development appears—startling, revolutionary—the cleaning principle called "Positive Agitation."

Perfected in The New Hoover, it lifts home cleaning to yet new levels of ease and certainty—registering perhaps a greater advance than anything that has gone before.

If you have not seen The New Hoover you have a treat in store. It is unlike anything else. New, original, spectacular, it surpasses even the standard-design Hoover in such important particulars as these:

1 For the first time, it makes possible "Positive Agitation" of floor coverings.

2 By actual test, in the ordinary cleaning time, it beats out and sweeps up from carpetings an average of 131% more dirt.

3 It is an even greater rug-saver; the oftener a carpet is cleaned with a Hoover the longer that carpet will wear.

4 It is virtually service-proof, every part, including the new motor, requiring no oiling.

5 It increases the efficiency of its remarkable dusting tools because of its 50% stronger suction.

6 Its exclusive dust- and germ-proof bag is now washable.

7 Its form and finish are of startling beauty; and every new feature insures greater operating ease.

You owe it to yourself to see and understand this New Hoover, now being exhibited by us. Come in today or phone us and we'll bring one to your home for a free demonstration. No obligation.

"PEACHES" CRITICIZED IN LETTERS TO BROWNING

Millionaire Asserts Girls Are "Trying To Lighten His Sorrow"

New York, Oct. 14—Girls all over the country are writing to Edward W. Browning expressing their sympathy and "trying to lighten his sorrow," the "Cinderella man" revealed today.

Many of the girls "simply can't understand" why 16-year-old "Peaches" should run away from "dear daddy." Hundreds of the writers criticize "Peaches" severely. Others, sincere, but ignorant of the law, propose marriage to Browning.

So many letters are coming to Browning that he has had to put the staff at his office to work handling them.

"I believe these women are sincere and that they are with me in my troubles with 'Peaches,'" said Browning. "The letters show that they sympathize with me in my plight. Women everywhere—Pottsville, Pa.; Oakland, Cal.—are writing. They have kind thoughts for me. They see how I am troubled."

"Peaches" has been gone 13 days from Browning and she shows no sign of coming back. She says she is "through" with him.

Kenton, Oct. 14—McGuffey experienced several real wild west thrillers yesterday when two herds of cattle stampeded while being driven from the stockyards to the farms of J. F. Stansbaugh and Albert Edwards, prominent farmers of west of here.

Despite the fact that the main street of the village was lined with special guards to prevent the steers from destroying property, the unruly animals broke loose and for a time pandemonia reigned. Clarborn Chaffin was run down by one of the animals but escaped serious injuries while corn fields at the edge of the town and yards about private residences, were badly torn up and damaged.

The steers, 190 of them, were purchased in Nebraska and brought here to feed over the winter.

CIVIC GROUP GIVES SUPPORT TO CITY COUNCIL

Cooperation of C. of C. Pledged in Resolution Passed by Directors

Kenton, Oct. 14—Resolutions pledging their support and cooperation to the Kenton city council in opposing and protesting the new gas rate schedule of the West Ohio Gas company of Lima, for its patrons here, were passed by the Chamber of Commerce directors in executive session yesterday.

This is the first civic group to voice objections to the new increased gas rates and indications today were that the Kiwanis club and other organizations would take similar action.

There is a possibility that a large delegation of citizens from this city will go to Columbus to voice their objections, when the city's gas rate protest comes before the State Public Utilities commission for hearing, October 19.

With the approval and acceptance of the bond filed by the West Ohio Gas company last Friday, the state commission granted the public utility permission to put its new increased rates into effect pending the outcome of the hearing of the city's protest.

Under the new schedule now in effect a maximum charge of $1.25 is made for the first 100 cubic feet of gas used per month with a sliding scale downward. This schedule replaced the $1.07 flat rate in effect here or more than half a year.

In protesting the new rates, city council held that they were unjust and exhorbitant.

Columbia Concentrates on Stopping Karow Saturday

New York Eleven Will Not Be Disappointed if Grid Tilt is Lost to Buckeyes

State First Big Ten Team To Show Wares in New York City; Columbia Not Team It Was Last Year and Ohio Squad Much Better

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—It seems to be generally understood that one doesn't drive in that run from first base with a spectacular base on balls nor score a knockout by making the other gent miss.

Therefore the writer is disposed to believe that Columbia University will not be greatly irritated on Saturday if it doesn't' finish worse than second to Ohio State, the first Big Ten team ever to show in New York.

The official attitude at Columbia today was strictly a defensive one and the only thing it regretted was that it couldn't say the same for its football team. The latter, it seemed, wasn't strictly anything in particular.

"We are concentrating on stopping Karow," was Charley Crowley's summation. "He tore our line apart last year, forced us to play seven men up and left us without an adequate defense against the passing game. We are hoping to perfect a defense that will allow us to play six men on the line and let the center rover."

What Crowley might have said was that he was trying to accomplish two ends and that neither of them were easy. He hopes to stop a good line plunger with a set of inexperienced forwards and at the same time use a running attack of his own inside and outside of tackle. He happens to have two fair plunging backs in Madden and Sesit, but they will need to be better than that to click with any degree of regularity behind a green line.

Last Year's Game

As far as the Columbia-Ohio State affair is concerned, I think the boys on the heights are prepared to throw that one out and start all over again. Columbia is not the team it was last year and the Buckeye is better; in fact it is said to have assembled its best array since the championship out of 1920. Incidentally, that superior Columbia team of 1925 lost to that unrepresentative Ohio State eleven by 9 to 0. You can figure that one up without using the fingers.

Only three 1925 regulars will start the game for Columbia—Madden and Sesit in the backfield, and Bardy at end. The others were substitutes or worse last year. Pease, quarterback, is gone. So are Wagner, a fine end; Kirchmeyer, a back, and Schimetitsch, Wiberg, Aulick and Raphael.

Some of these worthies may not have been so hot, but at least they had big game experience. The only forwards in the present squad who can say the same are Reynolds and Alkoff and they serve to give the right side of the line a rather superior aspect, with Brady playing right end. The others, French, center, Shaw, left guard; Kerrigan, left tackle, and Furey, left end, never have faced an outfit of Ohio State's speed and general class.

May Kick Often

I can imagine that he boys' education will be somewhat amplified when Otto Hess begins to roam around through the line; Karow comes plunging in and Marek and Eby are turned loose on the ends. Crowley, a product of rather contradictory systems at Harvard and Notre Dame, seems to be a confirmed conservative and I don't know that I blame him, in this case. One doesn't feel the urge to break a neighbor's windows with only a sponge available.

The injury to Empringham has necessitated a backfield shift and, with Norris at fullback, it is likely that Columbia will employ the old Harvard idea of kicking early and often and waiting for the break, if any. Rieger, a fast man, will be used at quarterback but with the huddle system in operation it is possible that Captain Madden will shoot the burden of generalship or whatever it is the boys kid themselves about.

It is possible the writer has given the impression that he doesn't think Columbia is much of a football team. It isn't.

STATE SQUAD TO LEAVE TONIGHT

Columbus, Oct. 14—Ohio State's squad, 34 strong, leaves at 6:30 o'clock tonight and will arrive in New York at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning for Saturday's game with Columbia.

The team will go through a short practice session, devoted largely to signal drill, this afternoon. Elmer Marek, star half back, still is nursing an injured shoulder and may not see service against Columbia.

CUBS LOSE WHILE ALEXANDER WINS

Star in World Series Departed Quietly from Chicago

Who was primarily responsible for the departure of Grover Alexander from the Chicago Cubs? The victory of the great old hurler in the second game of the world's series raised that question in Chicago before the papers telling of his feat were long off the presses.

It was surely lack of diplomatic handling and judgment on the part of Owner Wrigley, President Bill Veeck or Manager McCarthy the one who erred is in for some bad moments every time the matter is brought up. Thrown on the market at the waiver price for failure to keep in condition Alexander proceeded to "reform" with the St. Louis Cardinals and give them about 1000 per cent return on the waiver price they paid for him.

There was no indication in his actions while with the Cardinals in the late days of the campaign that he was through—that he had ceased to have the desire to pitch winning baseball. Surely there was no indication in that second game in New York that he had failed to keep in condition.

It is hard to believe that Alexander would use any such methods to obtain his release from the Cubs. His name as a clean living, conscientious worker meant something to him.

Who blundered?

The public probably will never know. But the Cub bosses know the real reason.

ENGLAND WOMAN JOCKEY WINS WITH STEPHENIA

New Market, England, Oct. 14—Miss Iris Rickaby, England's foremost woman jockey, today won the New Market Town Plate, riding Stephenia.

The New Market Town Plate is an ancient race, run once a year and during past years women riders have been keen contenders. Miss Rickaby has been well up in front in this race for the last three years.

Miss Ellen Joel, who comes from a famous racing family, finished second today, and the male jockeys managed to barely nose into the money, when Dixon, a male rider, finished third.

The more some people get the more they want—except when they are handed a sentence.

WESLEYAN TEAM VISITS WOOSTER

Coach Gauthier Works on Secondary Line of Defense

Delaware, Oct. 14—Work on the secondary defense is claiming the greater part of Coach George Gauthier's time this week in preparing his Ohio Wesleyan eleven for the game at Wooster Saturday.

The defense of the backfield was woefully weak against State last week, several of the Buckeye scores being due largely to the failure of the backfield to break up State's passing attack in the last half. State merely passed the ball and there was no Bishop to either stop the pass or the Buckeye receiver after he had caught the oval.

Gauthier is experimenting with practically an entirely new backfield this week in an effort both to strengthen the defense and to give other first-string men a chance to show their ability. He is using Glancy and Phillips at the halves instead of Blickle and Swaim and Welty at full in place of Myers. Blickle probably will not be out for practice all week, due to injuries but it is likely he will see action against Wooster.

The Wesleyan-Wooster tilt will feature Wooster's eighth annual homecoming program Saturday. As an added attraction the cross-country teams from both schools will compete in a dual meet which will end between halves of the football game. The grid contest itself will be Wesleyan's first with Wooster since 1915.

GEORGE MILLER FINED $350 BY MAYOR HAZEN

Enters Plea of Guilty to Charge of Possessing Liquor Outfit

George Miller, age 24, of 136 Latourette-st, pleaded guilty before Mayor Earl M. Hazen Wednesday afternoon to the charge of having material for the manufacture of liquor in his possession when his home was raided by officers about 2 o'clock Wednesday morning and was fined $350. He was placed in the county jail to await settlement of the fine.

The raid on the Miller home and his arrest followed a complaint filed by Pete Conzalos, who claimed that he was ejected from the Miller residence, where he called about midnight, and in the process of being thrown out was relieved of $17.

Tony Nolfi, 19, of 1040 W. Center-st, helped Miller in the ejection proceeding, Conzalos related, and as a consequence Nolfi was also placed under arrest on charges of theft and disorderly conduct. Nolfi was released late Wednesday after paying a fine of $5 on the disorderly conduct charge, Conzalos being unable to prove the theft charge.

Nolfi and Conzalos, both natives of Italy, have scant knowledge of the English language and it was necessary to use an interpreter in conducting the hearing, James Ruzzo acting in that capacity. Conzalos gave testimony to support the liquor charge against Miller but had no evidence to show that either Miller or Nolfi had taken his $17. He said that shortly after visiting the Miller home he drank a quantity of wine which made him ill.

Disposing of Mash

Miller, according to reports of the police, started to throw a supply of mash out of a window when the officers arrived but was stopped before he completed the undertaking. Some of the mash was brought to the police station as evidence.

Miller, it developed, was wanted on another alleged violation of the prohibition law and had been sought by the police since last January. He left Marion following the filing of this complaint and no trace of him was found until the charge made by Conzalos led officers to his home early Wednesday morning.

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

But she didn't go anywhere, but my ant did, and when my father got home she told him there was a nice looking place for rent at 45 Green street, and my mother said we would all go to look at it right after supper.

Me and Jubilee went along, and it was almost dark when we got there, but it was light enough to see the rooms, and my ant had the key. There was two lots and a barn not so good as our'n, and rooms enough upstairs for the whole family to sleep, and I knew it would be all off with me and Jubilee if we moved there. Then my father opened a regular door and said, "This goes down cellar. This is fine!" and he went all through his pockets and found one match, and said he would go down and light a match and look around. He went down but he didn't look around. The steps were broke off after the third one, and the cellar was full of water from the rains. When my unkle had laid down on his stummick and helped my father out my father said the man could go to hell with his house. My mother told him he ught to be ashamed of himself and he said he was, and we all went home so he could change his clothes, and I was sent to bed.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit ...hopped over to Uncle Wiggily's ...stump bungalow early one ... from the chicken coop where ... was visiting Charlie and Arabella, ... rooster and hen children.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" exclaimed Baby Bunty as soon as the rabbit gentleman had opened the door, thinking she was the milk cow coming with a bottle of cream. "Oh, Uncle Wiggily, come on! Hurry! We are going to have the loveliest adventures today!"

"Why do you think so, Bunty?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Because—look!" and Bunty pointed down the path where, close to the front gate, were three stones, a red one, a white one and a blue one. The red and blue stones were shaped like small balls or large beads, but the white stone was the size and shape of an egg.

"We'll go walking," said Bunty, "and those three stones with us, and I'm sure something wonderful will happen just as happened when you and I went walking with the three sticks. Don't you remember?"

"Oh, yes," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I remember!" And I hope you children do also, for I told you the story of the three sticks last week.

"Come on!" eagerly cried Bunty. "Let's go adventuring with the three stones. I'm sure they must be magical or fairly like."

"Who put the red, white and blue stones at my gate?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"I didn't," answered Bunty. "They were there when I came over early this morning to get you to go adventuring with me. I guess a fairy must have left them there."

"I hardly think so, Baby Bunty," said Mr. Longears. "Of course I believe in faries, and all things like that, but I think these stones just happened here naturally. So don't be disappointed if nothing happens when we take them with us."

"I just know something will happen," said Bunty with shining eyes. "Come along, Unkie Wig!" she said, playfully. "Pick up the three stones and let's be on our way."

When the rabbit gentleman picked up the three stones, he saw that the red one and the blue one each had a hole through the middle. But the white stone, like an egg, had no hole in it.

"Surely they are magical!" declared Bunty when she saw the holes. "That is where the fairies go in and out."

With the stones in his pocket, Uncle Wiggily hopped along with Baby Bunty wondering what would happen. And then, all of a sudden, they heard a voice crying:

"Wah! Wah! Boo! Hoo! Wee! Squee! Wah!"

"It sounds like a baby!" said Bunty. "It is a baby. It is my baby, and I don't know how to make her stop crying!" grunted Mrs. Twiststail, the lady pig, for it was near her pen house that this happened. "I've done everything I could to stop her squealing, but I can't."

"Let me try," suggested Uncle Wiggily, and as he reached down to pick up the little pig squealer the red stone fell out of his pocket. As soon as the crying pig saw this red stone she murmured: "Goo! Goo!" and stopped crying at once.

"Oh, that stone is magical! I told you so!" laughed Bunty. She put the red stone on a string, for there was a hole through it, and slipped it over the little pig's neck, where it hung and there was no more tears that day. For the little pig played with the red stone.

Then Uncle Wiggily and Bunty, with the blue and white stones, hopped on, and, pretty soon, they reached the home of Squeekie-Eekie, the cousin mouse, who was very poor. She was sad because she had no blue locket to wear, as had the other animal girls.

"Take this blue stone and hang it by a string around your neck," said Uncle Wiggily, and when Squeakie-Eekie had done this she smiled, and Bunty exclaimed:

"The blue stone was magical, too. For anything that changes sadness into gladness is magical."

"I guess so," said Uncle Wiggily, happen to the white stone shaped like smiling. "Now I wonder what will an egg." But for that we shall have to wait until tomorrow night to learn. Then, in case the huckleberry pie doesn't stay down cellar so long that it is late for supper, the story will be about Uncle Wiggily and the third stone.

Genuine happiness is able to stand a lot of hard knocks.

RAILROAD STOCKS LEAD MODERATE RALLY TODAY

Pickup Not General Enough To Affect Average of Prices

Railroad stocks firm; industrial stocks irregular; domestic bonds steady; foreign bonds firm; call money, 5 per cent; grain steady; copper fairly steady; oil irregular; cotton firm; rubber, steady; sugar fairly steady; pig iron steady; foreign exchange firm.

New York, Oct. 14—Railroad stocks led a moderate rally in the stock market today, resulting in a fair margin of gain in a small number of the market favorites, but not sufficient to affect the general average of prices.

The principal buoyancy in the railroad stocks, as also the largest volume of trading, was to be seen in the so-called Nickel Plate shares. Chesapeake & Ohio advanced five points of 10% on reports that the minority stockholders had been promised 8 per cent return and a half share of new Nickel Plate stock for each share of Chesapeake & Ohio in the completed Nickel Plate merger.

New York, Chicago and St. Louis—old Nickel Plate—advanced about six points, while good buying demand was in evidence for the other stocks in that group.

On the whole, the movements of stock prices were narrow, and were controlled almost exclusively by the actions of the professional traders. The sharp rally in General Motors and United States Steel, etc., was due to short covering, while the new decline in electric refrigeration and two of the cheap motor stocks to the year's low prices could easily be traced to bearish short selling.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Rumor that hot house tomatoes will again be ushered into Marion vegetable markets Friday or Saturday was circulating among local dealers today.

The home-grown variety of tomatoes has almost entirely disappeared from Marion vegetable counters and in order to meet the demand, a supply of hot-house products will be placed on sale, it is rumored.

The hot-house variety will meet the demand but will also probably meet with a protest against high prices. The exact price of hot-house tomatoes is not yet known but it is certain to be much higher than the amount asked for the home grown product, dealers say.

Other vegetables were plentiful in Marion markets today with no change in retail price being attached.

Few Peaches

Only a few dealers in Marion continue to handle peaches in large quantities and these dealers are selling the fruit rapidly. Prices range from $1.25 to $2 a bushel.

CLARENCE BOWE EXONERATED IN CAR THEFT CASE

Youth Who Took Car and Invited Friends for Ride Confesses

Clarence Bowe, 31, of 291 Superior-st, and Miss Clara Mullens 25, of Kenton, were found to be the innocent victims of circumstances in connection with their arrest on the Kenton-pk, a short distance west of Marion, about 1:30 o'clock Tuesday night while they were sitting in an automobile that had been stolen earlier in the evening from Robert Hickok, 260 N. Main-st.

Investigation by Mayor Hazen and the local police authorities showed that the car had been taken by Marion Cusick, 20, of 341 Mary-st, and that Bowe and Miss Mullens, not knowing how Cusick had come into possession of the machine, accepted his invitation to ride with him to Kenton.

Cusick, who returned home Wednesday from Lima, where he went following his automobile escapade, admitted to Chief of Police James W. Thompson that he had taken the Hickok car. He informed the chief that Bowe, Miss Mullens and another Kenton young woman in the party were absolutely innocent, being entirely unaware that the machine had been stolen.

Bowe and Miss Mullens were released by Mayor Hazen, Wednesday afternoon, immediately after investigation established their innocence and today Chief of Police Thompson made a statement completely exonerating them and expressing regret over the unfortunate circumstances which resulted in their being brought into police court.

Cusick Released

Cusick will not be prosecuted, it is stated, as Hickok, the owner of the stolen car, is unwilling to file an affidavit.

Early Tuesday night, according to police accounts of the case, Cusick borrowed a Buick automobile from Sheriff James A. Deal, saying that he wished to take a party of friends for a drive. In explaining why he later took the Hickok car from its parking place on S. Main-st, the youth said that he wanted to use a "nicer machine" than the Deal automobile.

Bowe was calling at the home of a friend on N. Main-st where Miss Mullens and the other young woman from Kenton were visiting when he received a telephone call from Cusick, inviting him to take the ride to Kenton. About two miles west of the city Cusick announced that the car was out of gasoline and said that he would get a supply at some nearby filling station. He left with his young woman companion and Bowe and Miss Mullens waited in the car. Cusick failed to return and after about an hour had elapsed an officer drove up, informed the couple that they were in a stolen automobile and would have to accompany him to the police station.

Bowe Astounded

"The news that we were in a stolen machine nearly knocked me off the seat," Bowe said today in commenting on the unfortunate happening.

Cusick, according to his story, came back to Marion and returned over the Kenton-pk in the Deal automobile, intending to pick up Bowe and Miss Mullens and continue the trip to Kenton. In the meantime, however, the officer had arrested and taken the stolen machine to town. Cusick continued on to Kenton, where he left his young woman companion and then went on to Lima. There he ran out of funds and was forced to telephone to his home here for money to make the return trip to Marion, police said.

FIRE LOSS IN MARION ONLY $75 SINCE OCT. 1

Unusually Rainy Weather Holds Damage in City to Minimum

While unusual weather conditions, especially the exceptionally large rainfall, of the last few weeks have caused serious damage to crops in the rural districts, the city of Marion is likely to benefit by experiencing one of the smallest fire losses recorded during any one month in years, according to present indications.

October weather, which ordinarily is largely instrumental in causing more than the average monthly total of fires, this year has acted as a preventative, with the result that the local fire department has been called out only twice since Oct. 1 and one of these calls came from outside the city.

In 1925 there were 16 fires during this month, 17 in 1924 and 16 in 1923. The only calls received since Oct. 1 came from the home of H. B. Smith on the Upper Sandusky-pk opposite Crystal Lake Park and the home of Frank Waffel on Carhart-st. While the loss at the Smith home was about $3,500, due to the fact that no water supply was available for fighting the flames, the damage to the Waffel residence was only $75, which represents the total for the city of Marion thus far.

Record Likely

Unless an unusual number of fires occur during the remainder of October, the total for the month is likely to establish a record, Fire Chief McFarland states.

Until this month, 1926 gave indications of standing near the top of the list of the fire department's records with an unusually large number of calls answered by the three local stations. Had the average kept up, the total for the year would have mounted to approximately 300, considerably more than the total in 1925. With wet weather and other out of the ordinary conditions acting as a fire preventative in October, however, this year is likely to run below the average.

Usual Increase

Fire calls ordinarily increase in number when the advent of cold fall and winter weather brings furnaces and other heating equipment into use. Sparks from chimneys, clogged flues and other defects in heating outfits are the almost invariably the chief cause of trouble.

About 10 years ago, when the use of gas for heating purposes was generally discontinued throughout the city because of the increased rates for this fuel, hundreds of homes throughout the city were found to be facing the menace of fire because of defective chimneys. The use of gas or many years had destroyed mortar between the bricks, leaving openings through which sparks might escape and ignite roofs of the dwellings. As a consequence, repairmen were kept busy for months, rebuilding the chimneys. At that time, inspectors from the state Fire Marshal's office were here almost continually, visiting homes throughout the city and ordering repairs where dangerous conditions existed.

Practically all of this trouble has been eliminated, Chief McFarland states, so that now state inspectors visit Marion only a few times each year.

BALANESCU LOSES HIS FIRST DEFENSIVE MOVE

Hope To Show That Affair Was "Pure, Wholesome Love Quest"

Cleveland, Oct. 14—Emil "Frenchy" Balanescu, alleged to have caused the death of Dorothy Kirk, stenographer, through the mal-administration of drugs, lost the first court gestuie in his defense here today when Judge Carl V. Weygandt overruled a motion to quash the manslaughter indictment and ordered the trial to proceed.

The motion had been made yesterday by State Senator Arthur Day, of the defense counsel who based his plea on the allegation that the indictment did not specify the cause of the girl's death.

Day in his introductory remarks to the jury, declared that the defense will prove the affair between Balanescu and Miss Kirk was of a platonic nature and conducted as a "pure, wholesome love quest," by the defendant.

Mrs. May Kirk, of Canal Fulton, Ohio, mother of the girl, was the first witness placed on the stand by the prosecution.

Miss Kirk died a month ago, after an illness which physicians declared was caused by a conglomeration of drugs, which the state alleges she took at the suggestion of Balanescu.

It was expected the state would offer testimony that the drugs were given as love potions to increase Dorothy's affection for her lover. Sensational and fervid love letters exchanged between the couple were also expected to feature the testimony.

Asphalt Plant Held Here for Work on Memorial Highway

Despite unfavorable weather conditions, excellent progress is being made with street improvement work in the city, officials report. Laying of concrete is scheduled to start Friday on the new Merkle-av paving and will probably be completed within a few days. The H. P. Streicher Co. of Toledo has finished the asphalt surfacing of several thoroughfares and also the patching of a number of street surfaces for which the contract was recently awarded by the City Board of Control. The Streicher asphalt plant is still here, however, and will be used for placing the surface on the Harding Memorial Highway improvement, which will extend from the south corporation line 1,000 feet south in front of the Memorial site. P. Drake & Sons, contractors in charge of this work, have finished the sub-grade and foundation for the asphalt surface will be in place soon.

DECREASE IN TRUCK WEIGHTS EVIDENT HERE

Council's Decision To Enforce Regulation Showing Favorable Results

City Council's announcement of its intention to have the law regulating truck traffic over Marion streets rigidly enforced is already beginning to yield beneficial results, local officials state. Since the matter came before council Monday night instructions were issued to the police department to arrest drivers of all trucks who violate the law limiting the combined weight of a truck and its contents to 10 tons, there has been a noticeable decrease in the size of loads passing through the city, it is reported.

According to information submitted to council, the law has been disregarded during the last summer, with the result that pavements here are in danger of serious damage. The chief offenders, it was stated, have been owners and drivers of trucks used to convey stone and other supplies to country highways where improvement work has been in progress.

To add emphasis to council's demand for observance of the law, a formal notice to truck drivers and owners is being prepared for publication today by the city engineering department.

In the meantime, officers of the police department are maintaining a close watch on trucks passing through the city and arrests will result from any violations of the 10-ton rule, it is announced.
